Professor Dorin Almășan at 75 years of age

At the crossroads between memory and forgetting, we discover that the balance between feeling and reason changes and time seems to stop, wavering in the light. We understand that in front of memories we are equal to gods, because not even gods can change memories, just as they cannot change my respect for Dorin Almășan.

His personality is a spiritual synthesis, being a moral and professional value, an ethic or aesthetic desideratum, which many aim to reach but few succeed in reaching it. It is a complete reality of the man and the meeting point between change and permanence, as well as the creation of the surrounding people's minds.

In this context, Professor Dorin Almășan represents a human individuality that resists fusion with the group, through an innate system of preferences and rejections, through a form of intellectual existence that has never failed.

His life so far has shown that merit and truth are like a torch that burns in the fog, without dissipating it, but teaching us that without darkness, light would be useless...

The expression of thoughts about a personality is a mixture of signs and intentions, as well as a mirror in which one looks at their own face, in order to know themselves better.

An accomplished intellectual, Professor Dorin Almășan does not lose his sense of humor and his generous spirit, being aware that the most important goals are those that we carry in our hearts and that guide us, even when we do not attain them. He has understood that an ideal starts where indifference ends, and enthusiasm, where skepticism ends...

A personality full of thinking and modesty, Professor Dorin Almășan has known how to fascinate many generations of students with the lesson of his human dignity.

His many books written by an athlete seem to be written in moving letters, reminding us that the frontispiece of the ancient library of Alexandria bears the inscription „hospital of the spirit”.

His academic creed is the imperative duty to leave to the future generations the fruit of his thinking, in the noble form of teaching work.

His work is remarkable and my words are too modest to describe it. Always involved in creation, continuously concerned with balance, Professor Dorin Almășan has the privilege to valorize the moment, the essential moments of life, professional opportunity and respect for work.

The years we have spent together have increasingly revealed the Man that Dorin Almășan is, the Man of learning and culture, knowledgeable about national values that he has always expertly promoted, a fine observer of his fellow men and a teacher of human nature.

There are moments in life when we are happy to express what we have felt for a long time: admiration, respect and friendship. These are my feelings for the Man Dorin Almășan, for whom I have the deepest respect.

Dorin Almășan is a man who has embraced modesty as a virtue, and has given through his verticality a name to the alignment to light...

Sports and culture have created the Man Almășan, we wish him Happy Birthday!
